Economic Leaders for Tomorrow

2021

In partnership with

Pascal Lorot

Chairman, Institut Choiseul

It is with particular pleasure that I present to you the eighth edition of the Choiseul 100 Africa, a ranking carried out independently by the Institut Choiseul, and which honors the 100 most talented young African business leaders of their generation.

Although sometimes constrained by new restrictions due to the fight against the COVID-19 pandemic, the year 2021 was marked by a global economic rebound giving hope for the beginning of an end to the crisis. In the face of this challenge, the African business community and its stakeholders have continued to adapt and demonstrate resilience.

To do this, Africa benefits from the unfailing energy and immense talent displayed daily by this youth that the Institut Choiseul has been highlighting since 2014.

Whether they are business leaders or young creative entrepreneurs, emerging talents or leaders of prestigious institutions, these exceptional personalities have continued to reinvent their models of governance to exploit the opportunities offered by the world of tomorrow. Africa will play a preeminent role there; it is obvious to all. The continent owes this above all to its demographic dynamism, which offers it a pool of talent that grows year after year, well inspired by the young leaders highlighted in this ranking.

This new edition once again represents the continent in all its diversity and complexity. Our laureates and alumni operate in 47 countries and 16 sectors and illustrate the tremendous assets of a continent looking to the future. These champions are the primary players of Africa's economic growth on a rapidly changing international scene. I would like to send them my most sincere congratulations for their past performances and for the many others to come.

Finally, I would like to warmly thank the partners who are supporting us for this new edition of the ranking. Their commitment to us is a further illustration of the enthusiasm generated by the successes of our young laureates!

Economic Leaders for Tomorrow

The philosophy behind the study

The Choiseul 100 Africa is an annual study independently carried out by the Institut Choiseul. It identifies and ranks the young African leaders of 40 years old and below, who will play a major role in the continent's economic development in the near future.

The Choiseul 100 Africa is a result of a work conducted over several months. The Institut Choiseul reached out to many experts and specialists on the continent to achieve this ambitious and unique study which draws up an inventory of the African economic forces.

Methodology of the study

■ A three-phase project

■ Unfolding of the study

The Choiseul 100 Africa study was independently carried out by the Institut Choiseul between winter 2020 and winter 2021 and was based on four main steps:

- Definition of the methodology and objectives
- Update of the 2020 ranking
- Search and selection of new profiles
- Validation and preparation of the final ranking highlighting the 100 most promising young African business leaders

■ Eligibility conditions

Only profiles meeting the following specific conditions have been selected:

- Being a citizen of one of the 54 African states
- Being 40 years old or below on the 31st of December 2021
- Being an active contributor to the economic development of Africa

■ The selection criteria

To rank the selected profiles, several weighted criteria were taken into account such as: image and reputation, background and skills, power and function, influence and networks, potential and leadership.

The total score obtained in the different categories of criteria determines the position of each laureate in the final ranking. Profiles with less than 10% in any of the categories are eliminated.

The first 100 are ranked from the 1st to the 100th place. A second list discloses profiles ranked between the 101st and 200th place in three categories: three stars, two stars and one star.

The study was stopped on September, 30th 2021, and no career development has been taken into account after this date.

OUR PARTNERS

Economic Leaders for Tomorrow

The word from

Emmanuel Gadret Chief Executive Officer Deloitte Afrique Francophone

Our partnership with the Institut Choiseul is part of a twofold common ambition: identifying the best talents and impacting positively the continent. As a leading African actor of professional services, Deloitte Francophone Africa is defined by its 1,400 professionals serving 19 countries in North Africa (Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia), West Africa (WAEMU Area) and Central Africa (CEMAC Area). At the continent's scale, it is more than 9,000 employees divided in 51 offices, who are supporting both public and private actors in the realization of their strategic projects.

The strong growth of our activities, driven by a dynamic and attractive continent, lead us to recruit nearly 300 professionals per year, only for the French-speaking Africa. This ambitious goal urges us to address the challenges of identification, education, and retention of our talents. As the Choiseul ranking, we are looking for tomorrow's talents, not only the women and men that will constitute our top management, but also the young talents and the "middle management", guarantee of the sustainability of our activities. Our professions are technical: Deloitte provides professional services in various areas: Consulting, Audit, legal and fiscal advise, Risk advisory financial advisory and Accounting Expertise.

Moreover, our activities require other skills: cultural agility, collective intelligence, ability to manage multi-jobs team and thorough knowledge of the local ecosystems. Lastly, our employees are driven by the willingness to impact the economic and social development of the continent's communities. Our ambition "Make an impact that matters" finds its meaning in Africa probably more than in any area of the world. The strategic projects on which we are working with our clients, very often have a direct impact on the economic development, participating to jobs creation, the improvement of the governance, the funding of structuring projects, and the implementation of international standards better adapted to Africa. This is the objective motivating our employees and the laureates of this ranking. Each one of them contributes to it. We congratulate this year's laureates, as well as those from previous editions, who by their function, impact the continent and thus its international influence.

The word from

Michaël Fribourg

Chairman & Chief Executive Officer
Chargeurs

Founded in 1972 and established industrially and commercially in 90 countries on 5 continents, Chargeurs is the world leader of high-value niche markets. The Group is n°1 worldwide in fabrics and particularly the high-end market but also technical clothes, n°1 worldwide in temporary surface protection, n°1 worldwide in high-end wool and also n°1 worldwide in design solutions and services to museums.

By renewing its support to the Choiseul 100 Africa program, the Chargeurs Group confirms its engagement with respect to a voluntary and engaged community representing the future of a blooming industry and economy. Creating what has become the African Davos, Pascal Lorot, president of the Choiseul Institute, has created a forum and a hub of great talents that are building an Africa in which Chargeurs means to implicate itself to launch its solutions in high-potential markets. Listed and publicly recognised worldwide, Chargeurs benefits from a pioneering presence in Africa that relies on partnerships and local talents whose base I intend to continually grow.

The growth of real estate and of fashion in several reference African countries can rely on and take advantage of the expertise and technology developed and spread worldwide by our line of work, and we will do it while building, with the best talents of tomorrow, implantation and distribution partnerships. Under the new and international impulse that I have given the group, Chargeurs is accelerating its growth and intends to reinforce and implant itself in the short term in high potential African areas, drawing benefit from the expertise and the standards set by the Groupe that are illustrated by our new global signature, shared by all our lines of work, High Emotion Technology, which guarantees to all our clients and future clients a high level of quality and service.

As an example, Chargeurs has, since 2016, implanted in Ethiopia - on Hawassa's complex, a new reference global site for its Fashion Technologies branch, in support of emerging African brands and large global fashion providers. The growth potential of this new structure is tremendous and we intend to replicate this partnership process all over the continent. With its diversity and exceptional emulation, Africa can proudly rely on the talents that Choiseul 100 Africa spots and supports. Your future is yours to build. You can count on us now and tomorrow to support your new ambitions.

The word from

Bris Rocher

Chief Executive Officer
Groupe Rocher

@Gwenaél Saliou

The rise of Africa will reshuffle the cards. The decades to come will most likely be strongly affected by the continent's demographic expansion. Indeed, the African population is looking to double in size by 2050.

Numerous economists tell us that the 21st century will undoubtedly be African. The continent will host more than a quarter of the world's population in 2050 and close to half in 2100, which will make it the planet's biggest population pool, far ahead of India and China.

This demographic transition and the ability of certain African countries to fit into globalization must encourage us to give this continent the consideration it deserves.

Today the economy is diversifying rapidly. In addition to the traditional mining or agricultural industries, vulnerable to predatory behaviour or short-term management, we have the telecommunications sector, the finance sector and the transformation industry. Specifically, the driving force of development now rests more and more on consumption and retail.

Africa, rich in natural resources and bestowed with a youth that aspires before all else to be a consumer of globalization, attracts more and more foreign investors. In this regard, Europe, as main investor in the continent and France, considering its historical, geographical and linguistic proximity are key allies of the continent.

In addition to all this, there is a type of diversification and spreading of risk that distinguishes this continent from India and China. Indeed, this fragmented region is less vulnerable to political, economic and monetary fluctuations. In this regard, it can never be completely in crisis.

Finally, what is encouraging is that with 80% of its arable lands yet to be planted, Africa has the potential to feed the planet.

We cannot ignore this groundswell. This is why the Yves Rocher Brand has decided to invest in the continent through a network of over 150 standalone stores. Developed since 1959 by Mr. Yves Rocher, the Brand intends to make its mark so as to be a key player in the world's transformation process.

To conclude, I would like to welcome the initiative launched by the Institut Choiseul, which contributes to the emergence of talents to guide this incredible movement for the continent and our planet as well. Finally, the importance of the number of women represented deserves to be highlighted, as they represent, with no doubt, the best of Africa's future.

The word from

Guy Sidos
Chief Executive Officer
Vicat Group

Despite the crises, the African demographic dynamism remains impressive – in 2050 four out of ten human beings under the age of twenty will be African – the African continent is experiencing incredible societal and economic changes, the translation of which can be seen in the explosion of its urban growth (soon a billion neo-urban in Africa).

The needs in infrastructure, housing, schools, hospitals, or of economic activity zones, are on the scale of these changes which will at the same time have to meet the challenge of climate change in order to keep the continent habitable by the human beings.

The importance of needs on such a short time scale is unprecedented. We will have to learn how to do things well but also to do them quickly, in all sectors of activity. This will only be possible with the development of skills and qualifications of the workforce, without which there will be no improvement in quality at all, regardless of the technologies used. The evolution of Africa's new economic elites is very encouraging in this respect. The Choiseul 100 Africa ranking is an excellent illustration of this. It gives very positive signals to all investors interested in this continent of the future, Africa.

The cement group VICAT has been established for twenty years in Africa with a simple strategy: produce locally to build locally. We are indeed convinced that future models of economic development will have to limit the carbon footprint of product logistics and the movement of people. In addition to the quality of industrial processes, proximity will be more than ever an asset. This is the reason why we have invested heavily in Africa, in cement factories and efficient industrial facilities, respectful of the environment, whose creation of value or jobs brings economic and social benefits to our implantation areas. Our Corporate Foundations are also involved locally to promote the values of Louis Vicat which resonate with those carried by the Francophonie.

We are convinced that cement is the building material of Africa's future as it is on a planet-wide scale, because there is currently no equivalent, modern, easy-to-use material and also affordable to scale the construction needs of the continent. The latest developments in research and development show that it adapts best to short circular economy chains, by integrating material or energy recovery from waste produced by human activities. It therefore constitutes an even more relevant response to meet the challenges of the African continent.

Our teams reflect African dynamism: passionate, committed, voluntary and we are proud to be partners of the Choiseul 100 Africa, which knows how to value and encourage economic decision-makers to build a better and more human world.

The word from

Laurent Benarousse
Co-Managing Partner, Supervisory Board
Member, Roland Berger

After suffering a clear recession triggered by the Covid-19 crisis, the African continent made it through in 2021. In terms of health, Africa was less impacted than other continents, thanks to strong measures put in place by governments, but also because of the relative youth of the populations. The social impact of the pandemic was certainly noticeable, but the large part of the informal economy made it possible to contain it. The economic growth could reach nearly 4% in 2021, driven in particular by oil-producing countries and the gradual reopening to tourism.

In this context, the long-standing partnership between Roland Berger and the Institut Choiseul takes on its full meaning. The Choiseul 100 Africa initiative thus honors young leaders who have stood firm in the face of the crisis, demonstrating unparalleled resilience and capacity for innovation.

This ranking also rewards the progress made on the road to gender equality, an ambition assumed by Roland Berger which is of major importance in Africa. Women's inclusion in African economies is a real guarantee of prosperity, and the high proportion of women in this ranking is a tremendous signal sent to young African women who wish to play a leading role in the development of their countries.

It should also be emphasized that the issues of social and environmental responsibility in the broad sense occupy an increasing place in the concerns of African leaders. We are convinced that the advances of recent years will continue thanks to this new generation of decision-makers who combine growth with sustainability.

Roland Berger is firmly established on the African continent, and it is this knowledge of the challenges specific to the continent that allows us to support the abundant initiatives of companies and governments.

Our renewed involvement in the Choiseul 100 Africa ranking thus attests of our desire to be at the heart of African economic governance by supporting the emergence of those who will embody the influence of the continent in the decades to come. We wish them all the best of luck!

The Institut Choiseul is an independent and non-partisan think-tank dedicated to the analysis of contemporary strategic issues and international economic questions. Based in Paris, its ambition is to create independent dialogue spaces at the crossroad of the political and institutional world, of the economic scene and the sphere of ideas, in order to enhance debates on today's key problematics.

The Institut Choiseul has become through the years a discoverer of talents and has published since 2014 the Choiseul 100 Africa – The Economic Leaders for Tomorrow, a ranking of reference which compiles the young leaders and entrepreneurs of 40 years old and below, playing or expected to play a major role in Africa's economic development.

In order to remain as close as possible to its laureates, the Institut has organized Choiseul Africa Summits since 2015. Thanks to these prestigious events, organized alternatively in France and in Africa, the Institut multiplies the meeting and exchange opportunities amongst these high-profile economic, political and institutional actors. Gathering around 150 participants from Europe and Africa at every edition, amongst them a great number of our laureates, the Institut Choiseul has proved to be an unavoidable actor of networking and synergy, to the benefit of a shared growth.

Thanks to its expertise, its knowhow and its knowledge of the African continent, the Institut Choiseul also offers as well to its partners a support in their strategic decision-making process and in their international development.
